HEADQUARTERS OF THE ARMY,
ADJUTANT GENERAL'S OFFICE,
Washington, June 12, 1879.

The following orders have been received from the President, and are published by direction of the Secretary of War:—

“EXECUTIVE MANSION,
“Washington, D. C., June 6, 1879.

“Whereas Pryor Coleman, Corporal, Company G, 1st Tennessee Volunteer Cavalry, by a General Court-Martial duly convened by Special Orders, Headquarters District of East Tennessee, of March and April, 1865, was, on May 9, 1865, duly convicted of the crimes of desertion, robbery, assault and battery with intent to kill, and murder, and sentenced to be hung; and the said sentence was thereupon duly approved, confirmed, and directed to be executed, in and by Court-Martial Orders No. 44, Headquarters Department of the Cumberland, of June 14, 1865; and whereas the execution of said sentence has heretofore been deferred by reason of the escape from military custody of said Coleman and the institution in his case of proceedings in the civil courts, which have now terminated; and whereas the Supreme Court of the United States and the Attorney General of the United States have given opinion that the said sentence may now be lawfully executed, and the said Coleman has accordingly been rearrested and is held in custody by the military authorities: Now, in consideration of the long delay which has intervened since the trial of said Coleman, and the approval of his sentence, it is hereby ordered that said sentence be commuted to a term of imprisonment for life, said imprisonment to be executed at the State Penitentiary at Albany, in the State of New York.

“R. B. HAYES.”

The Albany Penitentiary having been designated as the place for the confinement of Pryor Coleman, he will, by direction of the Secretary of War, be sent to that place in custody of a guard, with a copy of this order and Court-Martial Orders No. 44, of 1865, from Headquarters Department of the Cumberland, under directions of the Commanding General Department of the South.
